SMPS announces New & Prospective Member Breakfast

Denver, CO—Join board and committee members of the Colorado Chapter of Society for Marketing Professional Services (SMPS) for breakfast to learn about the value of SMPS to you and your company. It's a great opportunity to ask questions, learn about the types of events we have, and how to get involved. This event is free to new and prospective members, and we ask that you register in advance. It is also an excellent opportunity to meet other members and prospective members to get your networking with SMPS off to a great start!

Date of Event: November 18, 2009, 7:30 a.m. – 9:30 a.m.

Location of Event: Racine's Restaurant, 650 Sherman St., Denver, CO 80203

SMPS is a national nonprofit association dedicated to enhancing its members' abilities to find and secure profitable work for their firms and better respond to client needs. The organization serves the career and business interests of more than 6,000 marketers of the built environment through our network of 60 chapters nationwide and in Canada. Members represent firms covering the full range of services of the architecture, engineering and construction (A/E/C) industries.
